This year's Trojans will be cheered along by six newly selected cheerleaders. Giving us big smiles are Kay Zeidler, Sally Clausen, Mary Jo Holman, Lucy Richardson, Suzie Landon, and Helen Pumphry. The six "pep cubs" were finalists from a group of 20 girls.

Students Aid In CF Drive

"Chips for CF" will be the theme of CHS students, who will be patrolling shopping centers for the National Cystic Fibrosis Drive, October 18. The campaign will include only stores in the Catalina school district. The proceeds from the potato chips sold by the students will be used to aid victims of this disease.

Dean Myrtle Brown, sponsor of the CHS drive, said that she felt the Cystic Fibrosis Drive to be of more importance than Peanuts for Polio. "With the Salk vaccine, the National Foundation, and the Sister Kenny Foundation, polio has practically been conquered. We hope to be able to establish like organizations with the proceeds from these annual drives," she added.

The disease, which attacks the muscles of young people, has killed many infants because it was not recognized in its early stages.

The drive is open to all CHS students who wish to earn an honor service credit. Those interested may sign up in Mrs. Brown's office, AD 16.

Voice of Catalina Will Soon Resume During Lunch Hours

Music for the student body's dining and listening pleasure will begin within the next month. Disc jockeys Burt Schneider and Ray Lindstrom will again be in charge of the project.

Differing from last year's format, the programs will feature mood music rather than the top forty. There will be a minimum of talk and a variety of selections will be played. Principal R. T. Gridley feels that the soft music will contribute to the atmosphere of the dining facilities.

The school will purchase new equipment for KCAT, the voice of Catalina. Studios will be located in the faculty dining room.

New Recorder Handles Duties

Karen Wilkinson was recently chosen as Court Recorder for the coming year.

Karen's main duty will be to keep record of all court activities.

Catalina's court convenes at 8 p.m. each Wednesday and Friday. Their purpose is to hear and decide on all cases brought before them by the hall monitors. For example, failure to have a hall pass would result in being brought before the justices. The penalties imposed are usually citizenship reports of varying lengths.

At the beginning of each year, the justices ask for volunteers from the senior class to apply for this position. Students are informed of this through the announcements, and submit their applications to the court. From the list of applicants, one is chosen and is presented to the council for its approval.

Frosh Vote Next Tuesday

Freshman class officers will be elected next Tuesday, according to Mr. Patrick Maguire, class sponsor.

A president, vice-president, and secretary will be elected. Four councilmen and two justices will also be chosen.

To qualify for election, candidates must have a "2" or better grade average and have demonstrated an interest in school activities, added Mr. Maguire.

An election committee consisting of Judy Allen, Dave Giles, and Thelma Taylor has been appointed by the Student Council to assist with the election.

An assembly introducing the winners of the primary election will be held in the auditorium tomorrow.

Internationals Slate Variety of Speakers

Evie Nicolopoulou, Tucson High's foreign exchange student from Greece, will be the featured speaker at the International Club meeting in Room M 218 at 4 p.m. today. Evie will tell about her native country and answer questions asked by members of the club. All students are welcome to attend the meeting, according to Julie Barrett, president.

"The purpose of the club is to teach high school students a little more about foreign countries than they can get in history classes," added Julie.

Top CHS Students To Be Semifinalists For Scholarships

Six Catalina seniors are semifinalists for the National Merit Scholarship, announces Miss Grace Hendon, scholarship chairman.

Students qualifying for the final tests are Neil Carmony, Stephen Cohen, Peter Hand, Gene Mercer, Barry McCoy, and Carolyn Stell.

These students are among 10,000 of the highest scorers on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test given to over 479,000 students in the United States, April 29.

Each Merit Scholarship is a four-year award covering the four undergraduate college years. Scholars make their own choice of college and are free to choose any course of study.

A three-hour examination is scheduled on December 6 for all semi-finalists. Those who repeat their high scores on this test will become finalists in the competition.

About May 1, at least 735 students will be named the Merit Scholars of 1959.

A qualifying test for students eligible for the National Honor Society Scholarship, Presbyterian Scholarship, Lutheran Scholarship, and others will be held October 21, according to Mr. Conrad Quenelle. Juniors are advised to take this test. All students interested should sign up with their counselor and pay their fee at the bookstore.

Movie Featured By Senior Class

A movie is being featured by the Senior Class on October 17. Gaila Crofts, class secretary, adds that two cartoons will accompany it.

Two showings will be held, one at 4:30 and one at 7 p.m., in the Catalina High School auditorium. Admission will be 40 cents for the matinee and 50 cents for the evening show.

Forum Solves Problems

Golden Rule Ends Problem

Late again! And what can be done about it? Even without going to their lockers, many students are consistently late to certain classes. Some must carry all their books all day. The ramps are crowded to capacity; many times progress comes to a grinding halt. The overflow causes further congestion in the halls.

A few students greatly add to the problem. They have no need for speed in the halls. Their schedules don't require more than a snail's pace between classes. They are completely engrossed in conversation, oblivious of those who rush around them.

Often these students have little chats with their friends in the halls between classes. They compare notes, encourage each other, and brace themselves for the next class. Without their friends, the ordeal of the day would be too much for them. But because of them, many a student's day grows grayer. They cause others to rush for the next class, often being late.

There is no need to rush, but a leisurely pace holds back others and makes them rush. It's a treat to arrive in class before the last tone of the chimes. There's then time to organize thoughts before class and start relaxed rather than breathless.

Close friendships are fine and necessary. But how useful are they when they inconvenience others to the point of influencing their citizenship grades? If there's time, meeting friends between classes is fine, provided this meeting is not conducted in the middle of the hall.

The real solution to this problem is quite simple: students need only to apply a little of the Golden Rule.

Code of Ethics?

Several members of the PTA Student Forum have suggested that Catalina students draft a code of ethics. These Teenage Ten Commandments were written by San Francisco high school students. They might serve as a possible form for our code.

1. Stop and think — before you drink.
2. Don't let your parents down; they brought you up.
3. Be humble enough to obey. You will be giving the orders yourself some day.
4. At the first moment turn away from unclean thinking — at the first moment.
5. Don't show off when driving. If you want to race, go to Indianapolis.
6. Choose a date who would make a good mate.
7. Go to church faithfully. The Creator gives us the week. Give Him back an hour.
8. Choose your companions carefully. You are what they are.
9. Avoid following the crowd. Be an engine; not a caboose.
10. Or even better — keep the original Ten Commandments.

What do you think?

Many Activities Engage Attention Of Speaker Ford

"My biggest weakness is talking." This is a curious statement from Ford Burkhart because "talking" proved to be an asset instead of a burden last year when he won a superior award in the state speech festival at the U of A. He read excerpts from "God's Trombones," dealing with the world's creation.

Ford was born in Raleigh, North Carolina; now, 12 years' residence in Tucson's desert valley has murdered any possible lingering of a southern "ya'll" in his vocabulary.

As a delegate to Boys' State in Flagstaff last summer, Ford obtained a better understanding of local government. He was also a Catalina delegate to Anytown, USA, at Prescott.

The smiling senior is art and layout editor for the yearbook, vice-president of United Christian Youth Movement, a representative to Tucson Safety Council, member of the Art Honor Society, the Honor Service Society, and he is president of the National Honor Society.

In Ford's junior year, he was sports editor for the Torch. In previous years he has played basketball. Ford now informs the public on CHS athletic achievements as sports correspondent for the Star.

Says Ford, "Art will always be an interest." The oriental charm displayed at last year's Junior Prom was a sample of Ford's artistic ability. He was decorations chairman.

A Presbyterian minister and his guitar captured Ford's "musical mind" one year at camp. The result was a self-tutored education in guitar playing. "I just like to sit in a corner and strum softly," stated Ford with a smile.

"Your Clothes Never Stop Talking About You" and "Dress Right You Can't Afford Not To" are two of the slogans seen decorating CHS halls as part of the Dress Right Campaign being sponsored by the student council.

According to Pete Ronstadt, student chairman, there will soon be a list of recommendations for school dress appearing on the bulletin boards.

It is the hope of the faculty and the student council that the students will become conscious of their appearance and strive to improve it.

A Candid Statement

There I was at 8:30 in the morning with a tired, sagging look on my face. I walked into my English class and my teacher said in a bright and cheery voice, "You are going to have your picture taken this morning."

Suddenly the camera was facing me!

"Say pickle," said the photographer.

I just couldn't laugh.

"Marshmallow?"

No reaction.

International Forum

Edited by Ruthnell Ten Hoeve

From Singapore to Brazil, The International Forum introduces foreign students who discuss information about themselves and their schools.

Barbro Pettersson, Ostergotland, Sweden

My school is a mixed school, and it's four years old. There are many other schools like it in my area.

You can choose between two lines, the common line and the commerce line. The necessary subjects are: English, German, Swedish, mathematics, geography, Christianity, chemistry, physics, drawing, and gymnastics for the common line. The subjects for the commerce line include English, German, Swedish, mathematics, history, biology, bookkeeping, typing, stenography, commercial doctrine, knowledge of merchandise, and gymnastics. I attend the commerce line.

Giorgio Volta, Italy

My school has five grades and an enrollment of about 1,250. It is just the same quality as any other school in Italy, since they all depend on the national government. Italian and Latin literature and language, history, philosophy, English language and literature, trigonometry, algebra, analytic geometry, physics, geology, astronomical geography, gymnastics, and religion are required subjects; no electives are offered, of course.

Today is our first day at school. We will get acquainted with our teachers. It is all very informal, and there is no ceremony. It is a co-educational school.

Marianne Banditt, Berlin, Germany

The school system of Berlin is different from West Germany. After six years of elementary school, starting at six years of age, you change, according to ability, to one of the three branches of high school: the practical, lasting three years; the technical, last four years (which I attended); and the scientific, lasting seven years as a preparation for college. One school has an average attendance of 600. Mine has 450 students in four grades. Thirteen subjects are required, while religion is voluntary. There are boys and girls classes as well as co-educational classes. After having absorbed nine years of school, you can learn an occupation, according to ability, either industrial or commercial.

Madeline Nathan, Singapore, Malaya

The school I attend is the Convent of the Holy Infant Jesus. The enrollment is roughly more than 1,700. Being a convent, the school is not co-educational. The compulsory subjects are: English, history, geography, science, health science,

Music Keyword With Busy Carol, SF Secretary

"Music" seems to be the keyword in the vocabulary of Carol Ray, corresponding secretary for the Student Federation. It somehow always finds its way into her conversation!

This native Tucsonian was born January 30, 1941.

First on her list of hobbies is music. Carol accompanies the A Cappella Choir with piano and organ.

During the summer she traveled to California for the Methodist Church Conference, where she played for the church choir.

Carol plans to attend the University of Arizona, majoring, of course, in music. "I'm not really decided about my future after college," she reveals. However, she hopes to be administrator of music at a Methodist church.

Carol helped to guide her class by serving as vice-president her sophomore year.

As a junior, Carol gained recognition by placing first in Pima County and third in the state in an essay contest, "Employ the Physically Handicapped."

Carol can often be seen neatly sending a tennis ball over the net. As a member of the CHS tennis team, she has traveled to various parts of the state.

"The participation in Blue and White Day is just wonderful," she exclaims. She states that this and good sportsmanship are what she likes best about Catalina.

Vera Lucia M. Chavasco, Brazil

Here in Brazil we talk about the USA very much, and my biggest desire is to know it and to know its customs.

My school is one of the biggest and best in this area. It has four courses: elementary, high school, normal, and college. There are about 800 students. There is no enrollment fee as it is a free public school. We study Portuguese, English, Latin, mathematics, geography, history of Brazil, world history, philosophy, and chemistry.

My first day this year was on March 3. It was an agreeable day after so long a vacation. I met my teachers and friends and we spent all the time talking about what we did on vacation.

IFACULTY SAYS

By Ben Davis

Social Studies Dept.

Every day each of us is called upon to make decisions. Most of these decisions are comparatively simple. Possibly these are in the category of what to wear to school, what classroom materials are necessary, or of like nature. Many of these decisions are easy to make because of our previous experiences. If we wear a combination of clashes or it is inappropriate for the occasion, the other students laugh or make fun of us. If we don't bring a pencil to class and the teacher has a class assignment lined up for us which requires a lot of writing, we get really "chewed out." This is a difficult method of learning, but we do learn and learn fast.

A lot of students can't seem to understand the necessity of a high school diploma until they start looking for a well-paying job. Then it's too late. The majority of the "knuckle heads" who decide they don't need a diploma make this decision usually without getting the necessary facts as to its desirability and/or necessity. Then they look for excuses to either drop out of school or get "kicked out." I've heard them say, in every school in which I've taught, "They can't treat me like that!" They apparently use the excuse that everyone is picking on them. I know you've all seen little children acting the same way. These characters are mentally and emotionally nothing more than overgrown children.

Possibly the decision you will have to make today concerns the selection of a dress or shirt. Tomorrow, the decision may be of such importance, it will affect your entire life. Be ready to make these important decisions intelligently and certainly don't rely on others to make the decisions for you. In this way you'll have a real say-so in your world.

CHS Band Plans Year's Program

By Jane Mills

Playing for all home games and the out of town game at Scottsdale are a few of the coming events of the Catalina Band, announced band director Tom "King" Burges.

A theme has been selected for each game. For the first home game between Catalina and Phoenix Central, the theme was "Catalina." During halftime, the band formed the letters CHS with a yell after each letter. The theme for the game between Tucson and CHS will be "Shoes on Parade." The "History of Tucson" will be a theme for the South Mountain game and a patriotic show for the Pueblo game. The A Cappella Choir under the direction of Harold Porter will assist the band for the patriotic show.

The band will join with 40 or 50 bands from all over the state in attending Band Day at the University of Arizona on October 25. There is to be between 1,500 and 2,000 musicians participating in Band Day. The Catalina Band will compete with the other bands in the marching competition.

Band officers for this year are: Don Grossberndt, drum major and president; Bill Sink, vice-president; Susan Gustafson, secretary; Lance Hoopes, treasurer; Kathy Hays, librarian; and Tom Ervin, uniform manager.

Pepsters Named

JV cheerleaders were selected during tryouts September 29. They are Kay Zeidler, Lucy Richardson, and Susan Landon, sophomores; Mary Jo Holman, Helen Pumphrey, and Sally Clausen, freshmen.

The girls were selected from a group of 20 semi-finalists who performed before the varsity cheerleaders. Each girl was required to make up an original cheer or chant and was judged on the basis of her performance.

Inside Catalina

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

By Ann Tillotson

This column is being initiated by The TRUMPETEER staff to acquaint you with the important work done by the academic departments and the administrative staff.

Catalina's largest department is the language department, headed by Mrs. Kenneth Phelan and staffed by 26 teachers. It includes courses in English, German, Latin, Spanish, French, journalism, and speech.

The English courses try to provide for individual differences of students. Teachers try to get students to accept responsibility for increased efficiency in mechanics, such as spelling, writing, grammar, punctuation, vocabulary, and related skills. Students are also helped to understand and appreciate literature. By promoting this sense of responsibility, teachers also help provide students with a sense of satisfaction in seeing their personal language achievement. This is "true-to-life-student motivation."

Foreign language courses instill in the pupils a feeling for the facility of using the language. An understanding and appreciation for the countries, their people, culture, philosophy, and development are achieved through the knowledge of geography, history, literature, good pronunciation, fundamentals of grammar, usage, and translation.

In addition to the modern languages is Latin, which provides a classical background, for it is the basis for the Romance languages.

The speech course teaches the students to attain poise in addressing audiences, the fundamentals of speech, voice diction, and speech organization. This course proves very helpful for students interested in careers which deal directly with the public.

CHS has many special facilities to help students to attain a better education. "The greatest facility is our outstanding faculty," emphasizes Mrs. Phelan.

The room collections of books and magazines, for instance, further enable the student to increase his attainment in language. He is able to find books more easily and have more time to read them. Visual aids are also of great educational importance. Movies, records, and slides are available for all teachers to use in their classes.

Special courses are available for students who have reading difficulties. On the freshman and sophomore levels, these students are enrolled in reading emphasis classes.

Advanced work is now available for French and German students. They may take the Advanced Placement Test at the end of the year. If favorable grades are made, they may be exempt from certain courses when they enter college, or they may be placed in advanced classes.

Language usage and knowledge are essential in this day of trou-

Suggestion of Week

About the messy students in the cafeteria —

"Large litterbug posters placed in conspicuous places about the cafeteria would remind the students not to be neglectful."

Miss Odom's homeroom (11th grade)

(Editor's Note: This suggestion will be tried. Miss Burtis and Mr. Mitchell have agreed to have some of their students work on "Litterbug" signs. Thanks for the suggestion.)

NEXT ISSUE'S PROBLEM

"What should be done about the congestion in the halls?" is the topic for the October 22 Suggestion of the Week, a new feature in the Trump.

All suggestions should be turned in to NE 134 by October 17.

Torches Are Sold In the Bookstore

Despite the fact that THS is charging $4.50 for its annual, CHS is still taking orders for the Torch at the bookstore for only $4.

Already 1,054 copies of the Torch have been sold this year, reports Mr. R. L. Dawson and Mr. William R. Mitchell, advisers to the Torch staff. This indicates that this year's sales will be greater than 1,500 copies, according to Mr. Mitchell.

The girls will cheer at all JV and freshman games for all major sports, including football, basketball, and baseball. Their work on the JV squad is supervised by Miss Virginia Robinson, girls' P.E. department head.

Good Ole Chris Sails, Discovers

By Gus Buttacavoli, Jr.

Where would we be if Columbus hadn't discovered America? That's one good question. Think back a little. Most of us are descendants from peoples of foreign countries. Maybe we'd be living in an igloo or visiting a village in the Mau-Mau country of Africa—that is, if our parents were explorers. Or perhaps we'd live in Italy and ambitiously earn our way as pizza packers. How about living in gay Paree? Oui?

Seriously, we owe Christopher Columbus quite a lot. Back in the fifteenth century he was really determined to find a route to the Far East, and, in doing this, he discovered what was to be named the American continent.

Each year, a day, October 12, is set aside in commemoration for Columbus, and as next Sunday comes around, think to yourself for just a moment, "Where would I be if Columbus hadn't discovered America?"

Pom-Pon Girls Visit New Clinic Held at Tempe

Twelve CHS pom-pom girls together will all other city songleaders traveled last Saturday to Tempe for the first annual Pom-Pon Clinic.

Those making the trip from CHS were Jo Ann Branham, Suzanne DuBois, Betty Jo Feldhaker, Darlene Hansen, Diane Jefferies, Ann Eve Kimble, Sherry Medema, Judie Moses, Dorothy Pumphrey, Margie Tench, Jeanne Webb, and Charlene Ziss.

In the preceding years the clinic has always been for cheerleaders, but this year it was opened to the songleaders as well.

"Not only did we have a wonderful time in Tempe, but I think the things we learned will be very helpful to us in this year's activities," remarked Dorothy Pumphrey, head pom-pom girl.

Poems Accepted In Trump Contest

Entries are still being accepted in the Trumpeteer's poetry contest.

Students who are interested in submitting their original poems should bring typewritten copies to the Trumpeteer office, NE 134, before Friday at 4:30.

Maximum length is 45 lines and the poem should contain the student's name and the name of his English teacher.

bled world affairs. When understanding of cultures and people is attained through language, the world is well on the way to peace. The language department of CHS is striving for this goal.

NHS Offers Student Tutoring; Fee Charged for CHS Fund

"Make those costless hours of class count!" advises Miss Eva A. Royce, sponsor of the National Honor Society, "because if you don't, you're liable to be paying 25 cents an hour for tutoring."

Tutoring services by the National Honor Society are available to all Catalina students desiring them, according to Miss Royce.

A fee of 25 cents per hour is being levied for tutoring. The fee will be given to a new fund at CHS that makes funds available for books and fees to those students who are unable to afford the cost.

Students should see their counselors if they need tutoring in any subject.

"We feel that this fee will make the tutoring much more valuable to the student and yet is not so high as to be a hardship to pay. But for those students who are unable to pay, we will gladly make adjustments," added Miss Royce.

In previous years the National Honor Society had offered tutoring free of charge for the first ten hours and had levied fees ranging up to 50 cents for each additional hour.

DANCE TABLED

Because of the afternoon Catalina vs. Central home game on October 3 being changed to a night game, the dance that was to be sponsored by the Junior Class had been cancelled.

The dance had been previously planned to follow the afternoon Catalina vs. Central game at 8 p.m., but Catalina played Central at Pueblo in a night game at 8 o'clock on October 3 instead.

The Junior Class now plans an after-game dance in January to help raise money for the Junior Prom, according to Doug Staples, Junior Class president.

NEW MEMBERS ARE SELECTED

Five girls and three boys were recently elected to the Thespian Society, according to Mr. Nick Livieratos, sponsor.

Lana Coker, Bill Risner, Peggy Richardson, Jim Chastain, Vicky Douglas, Debbie Miller, Brad Tracy, and Sharon Winkle are the new members chosen on the basis of their past dramatic participation.

Catalina's drama department will present two major productions and an evening of one-act plays during the year, according to Mr. Nick Livieratos.

Members Elected CHS Chapter of Quill and Scroll

Members have been elected to Catalina's new chapter of Quill and Scroll, the national honorary society for high school journalists, according to Mr. A. L. Southard, sponsor.

Charter members are Ford Burkhardt, Linda McLean, Carolyn Stell, and Margie Tench.

A member of Quill and Scroll must be a junior or senior, rank in the upper third of his class, have done superior work in some phase of journalism, and be recommended by a publications adviser.

To be eligible for a Quill and Scroll charter, a high school must publish a newspaper, yearbook, or magazine which is considered of sufficient merit by the executive council. Catalina received a charter last April for publishing the Trumpeteer.

Quill and Scroll was established with the purpose of encouraging and rewarding student achievement in journalism and school publications.

UA STUDENTS TEACH AT CHS

Catalina has 15 new practice teachers from the University of Arizona this semester who are completing their requirements in order to get their degrees in teaching.

During the semester they will first observe the regular teacher as he teaches, then practice teach while the teacher is in the room most of the time. Finally they are left for long periods of time with the class and the regular teacher absent. The apprentices are visiting girls and boys P.E., social studies, biology, business, English, and speech classes.

Dave Varga heads this club as president while Dave Giles, Emily Kittle, and Stephanie Pence serve as vice-president, secretary, and treasurer, respectively. Mr. Robert Bancroft is the club's adviser.

'C' Club Plans Year

Catalina may have a refreshment stand at its home games soon if the Letterman's Club can carry out one of its projects. The club is trying to arrange for a refreshment stand whose proceeds would help the club treasury.

Other activities of the club are two dances to be held on October 24 and December 12.

"We are also considering making a school directory with the names, addresses, and telephone numbers of Catalina students," said Huey Gilbert, club secretary. Other officers are Floyd Watson, president, and Quentin Bryson, vice-president.

Projects Planned

The Cystic Fibrosis Campaign scheduled for October 18 will start the year of service work for the Future Nurses. Other projects include helping the Red Cross, the Ryland Home for the Aged, and doing hospital work.

Forum 'Solves' Youth Problems At PTA Confab

By Ronald Elliott

Catalina's PTA held its first panel on "Youth Wants to Know" Tuesday, Sept. 30. Over 200 attended the panel, held in the auditorium, covering the problems of discipline, dating, going steady, the curfew law, and what teenagers think of our court system.

Members of the panel were Ford Burkhardt, Margie Tench, Jim Sakrison, Carol Sagert, Mrs. Ralph Geror, Mr. Dick Clausen, and Judge John Molloy, who was the moderator.

"The students that are the most popular are the students that have a code of ethics," was Jim's comment concerning self-discipline. Mrs. Geror suggested that CHS students draw up a code of ethics to be adopted by CHS students.

Discussing going steady, Mrs. Geror said, "I think it's the saddest thing on earth to tie a boy down or to tie oneself down." It was pointed out by Judge Molloy that statistics revealed that seldom does going steady lead to marriage. The panel felt that "there's a great danger in early marriages."

Jim's argument against the curfew law was "I do not see how we could enforce it."

"It could not fit all cases," continued Margie.

"Maybe discipline should come from home," stated Mr. Clausen.

A member of the audience pointed out that there is a curfew law in Tucson but is "confined only to flagrant violators."

"It may be that we will see that law more vigorously enforced," predicted Judge Molloy.

In this day and age of high powered offensive football styles, perhaps not enough emphasis is put on the old, but most important phase of the game, the defense. One has only to look at the University of Auburn's record to realize just what a team thoroughly schooled in defensively minded football can do. This school has no outstanding offensive star, yet now boasts a 13-0 won-lost record for the last two years, tops among major colleges in the nation (leading such highly touted schools as Oklahoma, Michigan State, etc.).

The next time you go to a football game, just remember that although it does take ability and skill to score the all-necessary touchdowns, it is the defensive effort made by your team that insures an eventual victory. With this in mind, the Trumpeteer is going to stress more thoroughly this here-to unpublicized but one of the most important parts of the game.

While attending the Mesa-Catalina tilt at Mesa a couple of weeks ago, I was much impressed by the tremendous support and spirit shown by the students and citizens of Mesa.

Practically the entire town turned out for the prep football clash!

The Sept. 26 edition of the Mesa Tribune sported a front page banner reminding Mesans to "Back Mesa Tonight!"

Granted, it would be rather improbable for the Tucson Citizen or Arizona Star to give front page coverage to prep football, since there are more than a half dozen high schools in the Old Pueblo. But Trojan students could display top-notch support and spirit if they would extend special effort

Catalina Blanks Phoenix Central; Downed By Mesa

By Bill Moore

With a 2-1 won-lost record, the varsity eleven will vie with arch rival Tucson High Friday night under the lights at THS stadium.

Last Friday the Trojans mauled Phoenix Central, 25-0, in the Blue and White squad's first home game of the season. Two weeks ago Ken Pearson's gridders received an un-congenial welcoming at the hands of Mesa as the Jack-rabbits carded a decisive 22-6 victory.

Leading the Trojan cause in the offensive attack last Friday were speedy halfbacks Don Brinlee and Tommy Kossler, who chalked up 49 and 41 yards, respectively. The big gun in the CHS passing department was quarterback Monte Clausen, who completed five out of eight passes for 45 yards and two TD's.

Catalina brought in its first tally with a two-yard rush by Monte Clausen, with three minutes remaining in the first frame. Center Jim Nichols converted after the Clausen marker, but failed to do so throughout the rest of the contest. Nichols' other tries for PAT's were all too wide.

Floyd Watson and Wayne Schuman both hit pay dirt with Monte Clausen's passes in the fourth period. An eight-yard rush by Neal Genda terminated last Friday's tallies.

Two weeks ago the Tuc-Hi eleven trounced perennially strong North Phoenix, although the Badgers weren't so fortunate in their opening clash with Pueblo, which saw the Warriors emerge victorious.

Catalina Freshman Eleven Journey To Mesa For 3rd Clash of Season

With a 2-0 record, Catalina's strong freshman eleven will meet their counterparts from Mesa at Mesa Friday at 4 p.m.

After completely dominating the first-year men from Casa Grande in their first home game Sept. 27 by a score of 42-6, the yearlings posted a 9-0 win over the Rincon Rangers frosh.

The probable starting line-up for the Mesa bout will be Bob Jameson, RE; Harry Schwartz, RG; Bill Bell, RT; Bill Sumner, C; Terry Runyin, LT; Dick Martin, LG; Jerry Fitz, LE; Bob Sher, LH; Bob Bykerk, RH; Don Pearson, QB; and John Carper, FB.

The CHS colts are headed by mentors Ev NicholSEN and Paul Ricker. NicholSEN feels that this year's club is more talented than the '57 frosh gridders.

22 Harriers On Squad

Bell Predicts 'Good Year' For Distancemen

By Ed Dooley

This year 22 harriers are going to represent CHS at the meets. Gale Bell, head cross-country coach, thinks that all the boys are strong and have that extra something to keep them going in those long races. "You have to be tough to be in cross-country," stated Coach Bell.

This year's team boasts four returning lettermen. Returning are John Hibbard, number two man last year; Dave Varga, number three man last year; Charles Lemlem, number six man last year; and Dave Giles, number seven man last year.

Some promising sophomores and juniors are Charles Fowler, Harold Slavens, and Bob Hinkle. Another newcomer to the team this year is Jim Sakrison.

The varsity will take part in seven meets this season beginning October 27. Home meets will be held on N. Pontatoc Road. The runners must travel a two-mile distance over this course. To do this takes much stamina and endurance.

"All in all," said Coach Bell, Bell, "this looks like a good year for us. We came in second in the state meet last year, and our only main competition this year will probably be from Pueblo, who came in first in the state meets, Yuma, and Tucson High."

Rifle Club Elects 1958 Executives

Officers were elected by the Catalina Rifle Club at a meeting held Sept. 25 in the rifle range.

Elected were Tom Eason, president; Dan Fullington, vice-president; Sheri King, secretary-treasurer; and Rachael Munson, recorder.

JV's 'Not Pulling Together' States Junior Trojan Coach

Getting off to a slow start, the Junior Trojans were defeated, 30-7, by the Cougars of Casa Grande in their opening clash of the '58 season.

The clash was a home game for the Cougars and seemed to favor them from the start.

"Our main trouble," stated head JV coach Bill Kiser, "is that the boys this year are not pulling together as much as they should."

This year's team has good depth in the line and backfield. Two stars on the line who are looking very good are Kenny Steen and John Verchota, both tackles. The JV's, like the varsity, are running the split-T this year.

This year's team is made up of graduates of last year's frosh squad plus a few very promising juniors.

Coach Kiser isn't discouraged with the loss because he feels that the weak areas have been changed and the team is now in pretty good shape.

"Although the rest of the season looks pretty tough, we should have a winning season if the team will get together," Kiser concluded.

Intramural Basketball Swings Into Season

Intramural basketball is in full swing. Under the direction of varsity basketball coach Bill Kemmeries, games are being played every day after school.

There are four leagues: senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman. Teams are made up of members of homeroom classes. Several homerooms have been combined as one team because of a lack of players.

These games give Coach Kemmeries an opportunity to look over material for this year's team. If you are not on a homeroom team and are planning to try out for basketball, or if you just like basketball, see your homeroom athletic representative or contact Bill Kemmeries. Listen to the announcements each day for the intramural schedule.

GAA, Pirouettes Elect 1958 Officers; Students, Teachers Vie At Volleyball

GAA officers recently elected for the 1958-59 year are Judy Allan, president; Sue Hawley, vice-president; Pat Nagle, secretary; and Sandy Boonstra, treasurer.

GAA activities are starting with the playing of volleyball every Monday and Wednesday afternoon.

The end of October will feature a student all-star team playing the teachers in an afternoon volleyball game.

Pirouettes, the modern dance group, has elected Susan Bambauer, president; Ann Hubbard, vice-president; Diane Duncan, secretary; and Barbara Reed, treasurer.

Sports Face

Gourmet Watson Enjoys Goat Milk, Baseball, Football

"Seal flippers under glass along with billy goats' milk," rate tops on Floyd Watson's menu. This gourmet(?) occupies the first string fullback slot on the varsity football squad.

"We have as good a potential as any team in the state," commented Floyd, "but we lack intestinal fortitude."

He also feels that CHS athletic facilities and coaches are the best in the state, but adds that the student federation support and spirit could be improved upon. He pointed out that the spirit fluctuates from good to bad.

Outside of the gridiron, Floyd's sports interests are dedicated to baseball and swimming. This sportster also plays catcher.

In the world of music, he likes "anything you can jitterbug to!" However, his musical tastes seem to clash when he explicitly pointed out that his favorite tune was "Pussy Cat" by Little Richard.

Floyd related that his most embarrassing moment occurred when he walked up on the auditorium stage to receive an award. Unnoticed by him, but quite apparent to onlookers, was a large red smudge of lipstick across his cheek. "The thing that ticks me off the most was that no one told me about it beforehand!"

Swishers Face Tough Slate; 2 Lettermen Back On Squad

By Ed Dooley

"It will be a real challenge to get in shape and be ready for the opening game of the season with Tucson High December 12 here at the CHS gym," stated Head Varsity Basketball Coach Bill Kemmeries.

Last year's team came in first in the state conference, and was also undefeated in the city, but last year's graduation saw the squad lose eight of its seniors. The big job this year then will be rebuilding the team. To add to this problem, the cagers will be late in getting started because many boys who are on the team are now playing football, which overlaps basketball.

There are only two experienced returning lettermen this year: Neal Genda, only returning starter, and Jim Sakrison, substitute guard last year. The rest of the team will be made up of last year's JV's. Coach Kemmeries is also counting on Monte Clausen, a new addition to the team from Albuquerque, N. M., for rebounds and scoring.

"Coaches around Tucson are picking us to wind up in the cellar of our league," says Coach Kemmeries, "but I'm counting on a lot of hustle and drive to make up for our inexperience."

Gym Men Look Strong For 1958

Catalina High can expect to be well represented in the field of gymnastics this year.

The team can boast seven returning lettermen: Rex Wheeler, a master of the high bar, was number one man last year; Ray Arnold, number two man last year; Bob Vinyard, Barry Spicer, John Holmes, Jack Holman, and Howard Fredrick.

"The team," according to Head Coach Rittenhouse, "looks strong and has plenty of the necessary depth. This year's gymnasts appear to be even better than last year's team."

The "Rittmen" feel that the high bar will be their best event this year. Another event they will take part in that will be new to the schedule this season will be rope climbing, in which they hope to do well. Other events they will participate in will be parallel bars, side horse, long horse, free exercise, tumbling, and the trampoline.

The meets this year will begin in March. The CHS gymnasts came in second in the state last year and have set their course to first place this year. Their main competition will come from Phoenix Union, who came in first last year, and Tucson.

The team needs more freshmen and Coach Rittenhouse welcomes any frosh who are interested in gymnastics.

Pals Still Available

By Bill Morris

As the old saying goes—"You can't buy friends," but this is not the case at CHS where for only 10 cents you can have the name and address of a boy or girl in a foreign land who would like to correspond with you. Names of students from 33 foreign countries are now available at the Trumpeteer office, NE 134.

These students have interests ranging from baseball and dancing to far advanced yoga and tape recording.

You would probably find some who have had experiences in concentration camps in Germany or in diamond mines in Africa. One might live on a plantation in Argentina while another lives in a grass hut on one of the islands in the Philippines. One might have a father who is a chieftain of a native tribe in the jungles of India while another's father may be a white whale hunter off the coast of Ireland.

Pen pals are available from the Trump office before homeroom, during lunch period, or after school.

Catalina Tri-Hi-Y Chooses Officers

Edith Catlin was elected president of the Fidus Taeda Tri-Hi-Y at a recent meeting. Betsy Rhodes was elected vice-president; Linda Salant, secretary; Jane Flickinger, treasurer; Carole Bording, historian; and Janet Ayers, chaplain.

Tri-Hi-Y plans for this year include an informal and a formal initiation, a dance, and service projects.

The purpose of the Tri-Hi-Y is to create, maintain and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character.

DEBATERS DISCUSS SCHOOL SYSTEMS AS YEAR'S TOPIC

American education will be discussed by the Catalina Debate Club as the topic of the year.

A comparison of the educational systems of Great Britain and the United States will be presented at the next two meetings, October 14 and 21, according to Mrs. Dathel Lackey, club sponsor.

So far 15 students have joined the organization. Membership is still open.

The Catalina Debate Club will hold debates with other Arizona high schools during the forthcoming year. The schedule is now being arranged, stated Mrs. Lackey.
